This image displays a page of musical notation for a piano piece, organized into three systems of staves. The key signature is B-flat major (two flats), and the time signature is 4/4.

System 1 (Top): Consists of seven staves. The first six staves are treble clef, and the seventh is a bass clef. The first six staves feature complex melodic lines with many beamed sixteenth and thirty-second notes, often with slurs. The seventh staff has a rhythmic pattern of eighth and sixteenth notes. The system concludes with a first ending (marked '1.') and a second ending (marked '2.').

System 2 (Middle): Consists of seven staves. The first six staves are treble clef, and the seventh is a bass clef. The first six staves continue the melodic development. The seventh staff features a series of chords. The system concludes with a first ending (marked '1.') and a second ending (marked '2.').

System 3 (Bottom): Consists of seven staves. The first six staves are treble clef, and the seventh is a bass clef. The first six staves continue the melodic development. The seventh staff features a series of chords. The system concludes with a first ending (marked '1.') and a second ending (marked '2.').

System 4 (Bottom): Consists of two staves, a grand staff (treble and bass clef). The first staff continues the melodic development, and the second staff features a series of chords. The system concludes with a first ending (marked '1.') and a second ending (marked '2.').

The notation includes various musical symbols such as notes, rests, slurs, ties, and dynamic markings (e.g., p for piano). The piece appears to be a single movement, possibly a sonata or a concerto, given the complexity of the notation and the presence of multiple endings.
